

Abstract

The invention relates to a method for producing a housing, wherein the base body of the housing (10) is initially 5 separated from a hollow profile and a printed circuit board (1) is subsequently inserted into the base body of the housing (10). The base body of the housing (10) is then closed laterally with the aid of covering elements (6).
(Fig. 3)